MEDIA ADVISORY

New San Jose Police Department Web Site Demonstration and Launch Thursday, July 20th, 2006 at 9:00AM

On Thursday, July 20th, 2006 at 9:00AM, the San Jose Police Department Homicide Unit will demonstrate and then launch our new web site, www.sjpdhomicide.com. Citizens of San Jose and other Internet users will be able to log onto the new Homicide Unit web site, one of the first of its' kind hosted by a California law enforcement agency to feature cold cases on-line. Some of the features of the web site will allow citizens to:

- Learn the definition of "murder" and what constitutes a "homicide."
- Watch a video message from Police Chief Rob Davis.
- Review selected open "cold case" homicides (206 dating back to 1962).
- Review current unsolved homicide cases.
- View photos of wanted homicide suspects.
- Learn about San Jose PD's Crime Scene Investigators.
- Review Homicide statistics.
- View historical photos of the San Jose Police Department.
- Take a fictional walk through a homicide scene and investigation.
- Plus many more features...

This new web site will also allow direct access to Homicide Investigators by e-mail. We believe that this new site will allow the citizens of San Jose to be more informed on homicide investigations and what they can do to help us prosecute those responsible.

Interested media representatives may call the Press Information Office at (408) 277-5339 to schedule a demonstration and interview.
